

Asola Bhatti Wildlife Sanctuary

Delhi's hidden nature escape — where leopards roam and the Aravalli hills whisper.

What Is It?

There was an error generating this image

A Natural Gem

Nestled between Delhi and the Aravalli hills — a peaceful retreat from urban life.

- Diverse flora & fauna
- Elusive leopards & vibrant birds
- Managed by Delhi Forest Dept.

Key Details

Address

Shooting Range Road, Suraj
Kund Road, Asola, Delhi 110044

Entry Fee

INR 10 (Free for children under 5)

Timings

7 AM – 3 PM, all week

How to Reach

~40 km from Delhi

→ Car / Cab

~1 hour, 31 km

→ Metro

Get off at Badarpur, South Delhi

→ Bus

~2–2.5 hours

Best Time to Visit

Oct – Mar ✓

Best! 10°C–25°C, pleasant weather

1

2

3

Jul – Sep ⚠

Monsoon — wet conditions

Apr – Jun ⚠

Peak summer — hot & humid

Year-round visits possible, but October to March is ideal for wildlife viewing.

Best Things to Do

Wildlife Watching

Spot leopards, peacocks, Egyptian vultures & more

Asola Lake

Relaxing views, family picnics, animal spotting

Aravalli Views

Scenic hills with unique flora & fauna

Nearby Heritage

Tughlaqabad Fort, Chhatarpur Temple, Surajkund

Things to Consider

There was an error generating this image

Before You Go

Wear hard jungle boots — thorny terrain

Carry water, snacks & first-aid kit

No sharp objects, lighters, alcohol

Carry at least 1 ID proof

Follow instructor guidelines

FAQs

Rare species?

Yes — leopards & blackbuck

Safe for children?

Yes — supervision needed

Pets allowed?

No — wildlife protection

Photography?

Allowed; videography needs permission; drones prohibited

How many leopards?

8 in the sanctuary